Full Description of the Funding Opportunity

Section I. General Information

1. Background

The Foundation for Cancer Research Support (RakFond) is a non-profit organization whose main tasks include: financing research and development activities, development of new methods and tools for the prevention, diagnostics and treatment of cancer, promoting the development and improvement of research and scientific activities of research institutions, scientific centers, oncological hospitals, and individual specialists in the field of oncology. RakFond was founded in 2017 and operates on the territory of the Russian Federation. For more information, visit www.rakfond.org/en/.

2. Objectives

The main objectives of this funding opportunity are:

- To promote research in radiation therapy in oncology;
- To provide effective additional support of the research projects, including expert assistance in the study design and protocol, and statistical data analysis and access to the online service for clinical trials organization and management;
- To assist scientists and investigators in achieving publishable results and advancing their research projects.

3. Scope

Proposals for research projects in radiation therapy (RT) in oncology are welcome. The priority research areas include:

- RT in combination with drug therapy, including immunotherapy;
- Predictive biomarkers of radiation sensitivity and high risk of radiation complications;
- Supportive care in patients receiving RT.

Priority areas determine the highest scientific interest, however, they do not limit other proposals to be submitted for the competition.

Section II. Award Information

1. Summary

Instruments of Support	Winners receive funding to carry out approved research projects, as well as expert assistance in the study design and protocol, and statistical data analysis, and access to online service for clinical trials management Enrollme.ru .
Funds Available and Anticipated Number of Awards	The number of awards are contingent on a sufficient number of meritorious proposals and availability of funds. Access to online service Enrollme.ru and expert assistance may be provided to non-winning applicants at the discretion of RakFond.
Award Budget	Up to 1 000 000 (one million) RUR (inclusive) divided into two payments of up to 500 000 (five hundred thousand) RUR annually. Proposal budget must reflect the actual needs of the proposed project. Salary and travel expenses are not allowed. The final award budget may be subject to negotiation with RakFond.

1. Eligible Applicants

A. Eligible Organizations

Applicants from any domestic public or private institutions of higher education, clinics, hospitals, research centers, non-profit or for-profit organizations, whose activities involve research in the area of oncology may be eligible to receive the Award.

Potential applicants should be prepared to establish eligibility of their organization to receive and administer funding, and RakFond reserves the right to reject application if an organization is determined not to satisfy eligibility criteria for this funding program. RakFond urges potential applicants to consider the following eligibility considerations:

1. Does your organization conduct scientific research?
2. What is the nature of the research and business that your organization performs? Are they related to oncology and fit within this RFP's objectives and scope?
3. Has your organization applied to and/or been funded to do oncology related research by any Federal agency or private foundation?
4. Have the results of any oncology related research papers been published by researchers from your organization?
5. Is your organization professionally responsible for the research?
6. Where physically is the proposed research to be conducted?

Forms and documentation submitted to RakFond must include the name of the Authorized Representative (AR) with the appropriate authority to sign and submit documentation on the organization's behalf. Applicants must be affiliated with eligible domestic organizations only; however, an applicant may be a non-Russian citizen.

RakFond may support projects with a part performed outside Russia either by the Recipient or by researchers employed by a foreign institution, whether or not funds are expended. For this funding opportunity, the total expenditures for any outsourced research, including foreign, cannot exceed the total amount allocated for this category (20% of the budget).

C. Registration

All applicants will have to complete a one-time registration process prior to submitting any proposal. Registration will help RakFond to make a preliminary assessment of the applicant organization's eligibility.

Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit a registration form as soon as possible. This will help RakFond in timely determining applicant's organization eligibility prior to the full application submission deadline. Applications, for which organizational eligibility cannot be determined by the Formal Compliance Review deadline (June 15, 2020) will be automatically excluded from further consideration.

RakFond uses a 9-point scale (from 1 to 9, with 9 being the highest mark) for all individual review criteria. Scores for each criterion will be accompanied by the review critique. RakFond expects that only proposals with scores of at least 5 (“good”) for each criterion will be considered for funding.

The table below provides a guide for individual criterion scores:

Criterion Strength	Score	Descriptor
High	9	Exceptional
	8	Outstanding
	7	Excellent
Medium	6	Very Good
	5	Good
	4	Satisfactory
Low	3	Fair
	2	Marginal
	1	Poor

2. Review and Selection Process

The competition may be considered failed in case by the registration due date (May 20, 2020) less than 10 applicants are registered, or if by the submission Due Date less than 5 applications are submitted for the competition. The decision will be made at RakFond’s discretion. In this case, RakFond immediately informs all applicants about the competition cancellation and the return of the submitted applications.

At its discretion, RakFond may change the competition timelines. Corresponding announcements will be published on RakFond’s web-site and sent to all registered applicants or those who have submitted applications by the decision date.

RakFond employs a rigorous scientific review process to evaluate proposals received in response to the RFP.

Submitted applications are first evaluated for completeness and formal compliance with the RFP by RakFond. Applications that comply with the requirements of the RFP will undergo further scientific review.

RakFond will assign each proposal for scientific review to a minimum of three Reviewers.

Once scientific reviews are complete, the reviewers' evaluation reports are forwarded to RakFond. RakFond will review each proposal and associated evaluation reports to ensure that the evaluation reports adequately document the review conducted. It is the RakFond's responsibility to ensure that the Reviewers have provided sufficient, substantive rationale for their review findings.

RakFond then compiles a full recommendation package, which includes reviews and texts of all of the selectable proposals. The recommendation is sent to the members of the Scientific Advisory Board. They review the complete evaluation package and give their funding recommendations for each selectable proposal.

Finally, the recommendation package is forwarded to the Board of Directors for the funding approval.

3. Anticipated Announcement and Award Dates

After proposal evaluations are complete, applicants will be notified as to whether their proposal was deemed selectable as a result of the review process. Applicants can expect to be notified no later than August 31, 2020, via email to their primary email address on file. Notification may also be sent by email to the Applicant's organization Administrative Representative identified on the application Cover sheet. Applicants should ensure that their and their organization's AR primary email addresses on file are updated prior to August 31, 2020.

Applicants should add grant@rakfond.org to their safe senders list to ensure they receive timely notifications. If applicants are not receiving notifications, they should check their junk/spam folders first, then contact grant@rakfond.org for additional assistance.
